Programme Officer - Sustainable Agriculture and Rural Development (Madagascar)

Position Overview

This is a fantastic opportunity for a motivated development professional with 1-3 years' experience to contribute to impactful agricultural and livelihoods work in one of Madagascar's most biodiverse regions. SEED's agriculture project works with communities to strengthen food security, promote climate-smart farming, and support sustainable land management practices. We use community-led, participatory approaches, working with local communities to identify and implement projects that meet their needs and priorities.

This is an exciting position for someone who has 1-3 years in-field experience and a particular interest in and exposure to agricultural development and climate-resilient farming systems. You will work alongside national and international staff, supporting the development, funding, reporting and evaluation of our programme. You will be responsible for generating funds across the programmes to maximise impact. This post will partner our national implementation teams, managing donor compliance, ensuring proposals and reports are to a high standard and budgets are appropriately managed.

It is essential that the post holder has grant writing experience and is able to work in English to a high standard. Candidates who do not meet these criteria will not be considered.

Title: Programme Officer

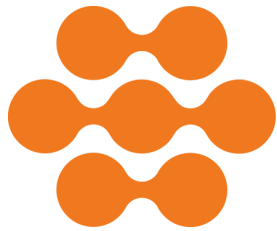

Location: Fort Dauphin, Anosy Region, Madagascar

Timeframe: 2 years, extendable

Contract Type: Local salary, £1,200 contribution to flights and £650 towards insurance

Core Duties

- Compile funding proposals based on past evaluation, team discussion and international best practice in an engaging and professional manner
- Write project reports that clearly demonstrate the successes and challenges of the projects, learning from the project and providing clear budgetary information
- Provide first-stage editing of all proposals and reports across the Department to a high standard and providing detailed, constructive feedback to interns and Officers
